

The New Jersey do not call list is a good idea that should be protected. A national do not call list should not have enough "loop-holes" so as to render it ineffective. A cell phone do not call list should also be devised to really protect consumers.